The Best Hotel Openings Of 2022 At Home & Abroad

Hospitality may feel under siege right now, but this is an industry that has survived thousands of years and just keeps marching on. And key to that is a steady flow of brand new hotels for us to ogle, to fantasise about or just to book right away. From Bristol to the Bahamas and Manchester to the Maldives there are new openings that will have you browsing swimsuits and ordering in the Factor 50 (okay, less so for Manchester).

Here is a curated list of the openings we are most looking forward to hearing more about, seeing and visiting this coming year...

Sommerro, Oslo, Norway

With typical Scandinavian understatement, this restored 1930s landmark is due to open in September 2022.

Located in Frogner, in Oslo's historic West End, the hotel will celebrate Norwegian design, combining form and function as the city's first hotel in an original Art Deco building (which is also Norway's biggest ever preservation project), bringing the former headquarters of the city's electrical company back to life.

*The hotel will celebrate

Along with original artwork by leading Norwegian artists (pieces by Per Krohg are littered throughout), the 231 room hotel (including 56 residences) will also boast four restaurants, three bars along with an expansive wellness centre, rooftop pool and rooftop terrace restaurant.
