

Make room for more

There are many new hotel openings to look forward to this year, from Airstreams to inns. By Aoife O'Riordain

USA

AutoCamp combines the retro appeal of vintage Airstream caravans with all the frills in some of North America's most impressive locations. This year it will add a camp in the heart of Utah's awe-inspiring Zion National Park with custom-built caravans, tents, cabins and suites. From $129 (£100) for two, autocamp.com

USA

Later this year Soho House will add yet another hotel to its burgeoning roster of places to stay. The 34-room Little House West Hollywood will open in the former Palihouse building on Holloway Drive close to its WeHo members' club on Sunset Boulevard. Rates TBC, soho.com

Mexico

North of Cabo San Lucas on the Baja California Sur peninsula, Todos Santos is a less developed and more relaxed small "pueblo" surf town where desert meets ocean – a picture of cobblestone streets, boutiques and unspoilt beaches. It's a fitting spot for disruptor hotel group Habitas' newest address with innovative, 3D printed hotel rooms. Doubles TBC, ourhabitas.com

Indonesia

Renowned for its surf, the island of Sumba has garnered a reputation as a quieter alternative to Bali. With a rustic, relaxed vibe, the opening of Cap Karoso in September will only add to its away-from-it-all allure. A chic cluster of 47 rooms and 20 beachside villas will be surrounded by an organic garden providing ingredients for its restaurant. Doubles from $300 (£225), capkaroso.com

Morocco

Close to Marrakech, yet far enough from the bustle of the city in the peaceful countryside, Beldi Country Club is the best of both worlds. In March it will open a new hotel-within-a hotel. With just 14 rooms, it will be surrounded by gardens and Atlas Mountain views. Doubles from €280 (£235), beldicountryclub.com

Spain

Experimental Group's latest project is the reinvention of the

The cellar bar will be the place to explore Portugal's liquid assets historic Gran Hotel Montesol Ibiza. It occupies a 1930s building in the narrow streets of Ibiza Town with a rooftop restaurant and cocktail bar, Sabbaba Montesol. It will reopen in spring. B&B from €200, granhotelmontesolibiza.com

Portugal

Wine lovers should check in to Lisbon's newest place to stay, the Palácio Ludovice, which will be opening its doors in one of the capital's most atmospheric quarters, Chiado, later this year. Guest rooms merge traditional Portuguese style with more up to date accents. There will also be a restaurant serving locally sourced ingredients and a Caudalie spa, while the barrel-vaulted cellar bar will be the place to explore Portugal's liquid assets. B&B from €200, palacioludovice.com

Greece

Most visitors head to the islands, but the Greek mainland is a canny choice for beach life close to Athens. In April, Brown Beach House Corinthia will be planting its flag in the sands of the Saronic Gulf, less than an hour from the Greek capital. The design by award-winning Elastic Architects, is sure to attract a youthful crowd looking for a good time. B&B from €184, brownhotels.com

Norway

Housed in the former HQ of the capital's original electrical company, September's opening of Sommerro promises to be something of an event. It will have a rooftop pool terrace and Art Deco inspired bedrooms as well as four restaurants and bars showcasing new Nordic cuisine. B&B from €150, preferredhotels.com

France

This September, Maisons Pari-ente, which owns hotels including Crillon le Brave in Provence, takes its distinctive style to Paris with the five-star Le Grand Mazarin. In the heart of the charming Marais district it will have the largest private pool in the area. Doubles TBC, maisonspariente.com

Hungary

The renovation of Budapest's landmark New York Palace Hotel will be complete this year when it joins the Anantara portfolio of hotels. On the Pest side of the River Danube and designed in 1894, its spectacular Belle Epoque café is special alone to check in to the 185-room hotel. B&B from €200, anantara.com

Ireland

March sees the delayed launch of the Cashel Palace Hotel in Co.

AutoCamp at Joshua Tree, California (above), is adding a new site at Zion National Park in Utah; Cap Karoso, Indonesia (left)

Tipperary. This former archbishop's mansion, dating from the 18th century, has undergone a no-expense-spared makeover. There will be a private walkway to the imposing Rock of Cashel archaeological site, a restaurant, Bamford Spa, swimming pool, gardens and the traditional pub, Mickey Ryan's Bar & Kitchen. B&B from €279, cashelpalace-hotel.ie

Wales

In the wilderness of deepest West Wales, fforest is the ultimate back-to-nature experience. This year, it is adding to its impressive array of accommodation options with The Albion in Aberteifi. Overlooking the River Teifi in Ceredigion, two brick warehouses are being transformed into a hotel with décor themed around the town's maritime history. B&B from £120, coldatnight.co.uk

England

Tresco in the Isles of Scilly is a place unto itself. The privately owned island has been in the same family for more than two centuries. In April, island institution, The New Inn, will be opening its doors with a completely new look for its 16 bedrooms, bar and restaurant. B&B from £185, tresco.co.uk

England

Following the success of its first property in Paddington, Inhabit Hotels is set to open a second property in Bayswater early this year. Inhabit Queen's Gardens will build on the brand's sustainable credentials and will have 159 guest rooms across two 19th-century townhouses, plus a meat-free restaurant. Doubles from £170, inhabithotels.com

Two warehouses have been converted into The Albion in Aberteifi